INORDINATE PROFITS BIG DANGER TO GAME

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Possibilities of building up the breeding industry in California, with consequent expansion of racing, are of the best, provided, and this is highly important, that good purses are offered for the contests out on the oval and also that money-mad promoters are not allowed to gain a foothold in the state. Relentless warfare must be waged against any attempt on the part of a racing association to take more than 10 per cent on its investment. Excess profits should be employed in betterments and in increasing the value of the purses.

Traditions of the sport in California are of the kind that inspire sportsmen to try to put on the best programs in the country. When the events of many years ago in the state are worth reviewing at this late day to the extent of more than two pages in The Thoroughbred Record, a high authority on racing, it is easy to see the importance of the game here in the West. There were some real sportsmen in those days, too. They were true admirers of the horse. When it came to making money, they did that little thing in the marts of trade and not by exploiting the fans out at the race track.

Neil Newman, in the very interesting "story" in The Thoroughbred Record, notes that racing in California may be said to have been on a firm foundation with the functioning of the newly organized Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association in 1882. The Maid of Perth of those days—E. J. Baldwin's Gano, by the noted sire, Grinstead, in his first start, won the first race for two year olds—and Theodore Winters' Atlanta scored in a stakes at ten furlongs; Winters' Duchess of Norfolk was first to the wire in a stakes for three year olds at one and one-half miles, and Senator George Hearst's Maria F. was best in a stakes for three year old fillies at one and one-eighth miles.

The sturdiness of the blood stock of those times is shown by the feature of the afternoon—April 25, 1882—bringing out the "class" of the three year olds to go the real testing distance of one and one-half miles.

My thought is that with the limitation of profits of the various associations up and down the state, purses will reach such a height men of affairs from every section of the United States will make it a practice to race their strings here and eventually establish nurseries of the thoroughbred. The fleetest and most courageous horses in the world were reared in California in the old days, the "days of gold," and it can be done once more.

CALIFORNIA STATE MOTORISTS' BODY OFFICERS ELECTED

Seven Members of Directors Board Retain Places And Fourteen New Ones

Arthur H. Breed of Oakland, former state Senator and widely known as the author of the gasoline tax and other vehicle and highway legislation, was elected president of the California State Automobile Association for the 1935 term, it has been announced following the annual meeting of the motorists' organization. Breed becomes head of the automobile association, with a membership of more than 60,000 motor car owners, after a notable career as a leading figure in California motoring affairs. He has been a director of the association for fifteen years. Other association officers elected for 1935 are: Francis Carr, attorney, Redding, first vcie president; Joseph R. Knowland, publisher, Oakland, second vice president; Dr. Guido Caglieri, physician, San Francisco, third vice president; Irving H. Kahn, business executive, Oakland, treasurer.

D. E. Wakins of San Francisco was re-elected secretary and general manager of the association for the twenty-second consecutive year. George Chalmers of San Francisco was re-elected assistant secretary and general manager.

Seven members of the association Board of Directors of twenty-one were re-elected for three-year terms. They are: Percy E. Towne, San Francisco; T. W. Hine, Eureka; Frank A. Cressey, Jr., San Francisco; John R. Graham, Merced; E. R. Hawke, Modesto; Irving H. Kahn, Oakland; and Francis Carr, Redding.

George Campbell of Reno, former association director and former director of the Nevada State Highway Department, was elected as an associate director representing the Nevada division of th automobile association.

MUNICIPALITIES OF CALIFORNIA TO GET GAS TAX

State Motorists Bodies And Other Organizations Ask More Cash For Streets

Public support of the proposal to allocate an increased share of the gasoline tax to cities is being indicated by editorial comment citing reasons for adoption of the plan. The proposal was initiated by the League of California Municipalities and is being supported by the California State Automobile Association and other organizations. Typical of a widespread attitude by the press on the subject are the following editorials:

Cities Can Use the Cash

Automobile clubs and other organizations will ask the coming State Legislature to increase the proportion of the gasoline tax money cities are now receiving. There seems to be little argument against it. The cities need a larger share than they have been given in the past and they ought to get it.

On the main highways throughout the state the worst pavements usually are found in the cities. This is because traffic is heavier there. On portions of the average through street in any city, such as Mendocino avenue in Santa Rosa, there is probably twice as much travel as there is on the highway outside the city limits.

There are some gasoline users who do most of their driving without leaving their home cities. Such people get little benefit from gasoline tax expenditures unless they drive out into the country.

At present one-quarter of a cent of the tax money is allocated to cities. The California Automobile Association is backing a proposal to give the cities another quarter cent. This total of half a cent would be used for highway work within city limits and under supervision of the State Department of Public Works.

PECK'S BAD BOY RICH IN HUMAN HEART THROBS

Jackie Cooper Said To Be At His Best In Coming New Comedy-Drama

Suggested by, rather than adapted from, the famous "Peck's Bad Boy" stories that delighted readers a generation ago, the Fox Film screen production of that name, coming on Sunday and Monday, January 27 and 28, to the Daly City Theater, has Jackie Cooper as its star and Thomas Meighan in a story role. "Peck's Bad Boy" is in no sense a "kids" story. It is a rich human document.

Jackie, as Bill Peck, believes himself to be the son of Henry Peck, widower, but is actually the latter's adopted son. He is happy with his foster father until the arrival of Aunt Lily and her small son, Horace. An episode adapted from the orignal book, serves to bring the story to a climax by diverting to Bill the blame for a piece of mischief done by Horace. This is the celebrated "episode of the ants." Bill gets the blame as well as the thrashing. As a result, Bill runs away from home.

Before the film is ended, however, he has learned that his father could be no more devoted were he his own flesh and blood.

According to advance accounts, Jackie Cooper has the finest role of his screen career as young Billy Peck.

A notable cast includes Thomas Meighan, as the father; Dorothy Peterson, as the designing aunt; O. P. Heggie, Jackie Searl and Henry Hall.

Edward F. Cline directed and Sol Lesser produced the film for Fox release.

"Gift of Gab" with Edmund Lowe and Ruth Etting, and a color cartoon are the other features.

DALY CITY BAND WILL PLAY FOR BENEFIT GAME

(By "Moe" Plansky)

The members of the Daly City Band have donated their services for the third annual baseball game at the Seals Stadium, Sunday, February 3, at the Sixteenth and Bryant streets diamond.

This affair is sponsored by the Northern California Baseball Managers Association, the proceeds to be donated to the James J. Nealon benefit fund, for relief of the injured semi-pro baseball players.

There is no reason why this game should not be an outstanding success. Joe Devine, big league scout, has assembled over a million dollars worth of big league ball players, who will participate in the main event at 2:30 p. m. The contest will be between Joe Cronin's All Stars and Dick Bartell's All Stars.

Two other contests will be played by four of the outstanding semi-pro teams of San Francisco, at 10 a. m. and 12 noon. The general admission will be 40 cents.

The Daly City baseball enthusiasts can help to make this the most successful event ever staged in the Seals Stadium, by making it a point to be one of the spectators, and telling your friends about the game and urging them to attend and assist in the relief of injured players.

CALIFORNIA HAS INDUSTRIAL AND PAYROLL STEPUP

Index Of Bank Of America Indicates Greater Buying Power Of Workers

Bank of America's Index of Far Western Business standing at 64.2 for the month of December, 1934, showed a gain of 5.1 per cent over the preceding month, the largest percentage gain since July of 1933.

The December index figure represented a gain in the status of business, based on car loading, electric power production and bank debits, of 1.4 per cent over the closing index figure of 1933 and a 7 per cent increase over the index of December, 1932. December's gain over the low point of the depression—March, 1933—was 10.4 points, or 19.3 per cent.

An encouraging factor in the business outlook for the New Year is the official estimate obtained from representative industries that carloadings of the Far West during the first quarter of 1935 will exceed the first three months of last year by a margin of 5 per cent.

Of twenty-seven major industrial and agricultural industries forecasting their freight car requirements for the current quarter 21 report that their needs in 1935 will exceed the first quarter of last year. On an average, these twenty-one industries use between 80 and 85 per cent of the total number of freight cars in

UNCLE SAM ASKED TO HELP IN ROAD WORK

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Governor John W. Troy of Alaska sees the opportunity of relieveing the unemployment situation in the United States to an appreciable degree in just the way I have been writing about for more than two years:

"The area and resources of Alaska would provide, if developed, relief for the over-population of congested centers throughout the country. People brought to Alaska to prospect for gold and finding employment in public works would furnish population that would make markets for agricultural products, timber and other resources of the territory."

Aptly put, Governor, and every word true to the core.

Another stimulating outburst from up north, this time from Earle Knight, editor and publisher of The Alaska Weekly:

"With the single exception of the fisheries, Alaska has no resuorce, the expanding of which would not be given tremendous impetus by the development of her mineral resources and more particularly of her gold possibilities. As we remarked a few weeks ago, Congress is busy passing out billions in every conceivable form of rehabilitation effort the brain trusters can devise while at the same time cutting the appropriation for the Bureau of Mines and making no effort to facilitate the opening of mineralized areas. At the same time we are weeping over the need for slum clearance and worrying over the congested industrial centers without an apparent thought of the possibilities of the Empire of the North and its obvious answer to this problem."

Anthony Dimond, delegate to Congress from Alaska, is pressing a plan of colonization for the territory. The federal government is said to favor the plan for two reasons: first, it would take care of a number of people in the drought striken areas who can no longer survive there and people living under similarly impossible conditions elsewhere; second, it would aid in the settlement of Alaska with a resident population.

It is likely the first settlement will consist of about one hundred families and it appears Matanuska Valley will be chosen for the settlement. A little later 400 more families may be sent north.

The families will be given homesteads and sufficient financial aid to care for the new homes. Delegate Dimond has sent out warnings that "only the strong" should think of accepting the offer.

Urgent need of the construction of the proposed Alaska Highway is shown more clearly with each passing day. Millions—six million, I believe—hardy youths and men of middle age, can get out of the rich regions to the northward.

One of the timely interviews on the pressing subject of roads was given recently by James Frawley, member of the Alaska Territorial Legislature. He said, in part:

"Roads, sure, we need roads, but let's build them from somewhere to somewhere. I'm tired of blind roads and half finished trails in Alaska. We need roads and landing fields all over the territory and nothing encourages the mining industry more than giving the operators a road on which they can move in supplies and equipment to their properties; and don't forget, mining is the backbone of Alaska, and we've got to support that industry first of all."

RETIRING HEADS ARE TENDERED A SURPRISE PARTY

The ladies of Old Glory's Drill Team held their regular meeting Wednesday of last week in Fire House No. 5. At nine o'clock the meeting was closed, and the members adjourned to the home of Past Manager Dorn. The new manager, Genevieve Linser, and her officers and members were tendered a "surprise" by the outgoing officers.

Delightful refreshments were served by the committee—Collins, Lewis and Dorn.

The matter of new uniforms for the team was discussed and it looks like the ladies will soon be "all dressed up" and strutting their stuff in full regalia.

THIS MEANS YOU!

(By Al Gould)

A challenge to all baseball managers, players and fans has been issued by the Northern California Baseball Managers' Association to help in putting "Over the Top" the Third Annual Baseball Classic, sponsored by that body to raise money to defray the expenses of all semi-pro baseball players who may be injured while going to and from games, in practice or while playing in contests for your enjoyment.

To aid the boy who trains his body and mind in healthy atheletic competition; the physical fitness that comes from taking part in sports; the keen alertness of mind it gives; the spirit of fairness and good sportsmanship that is developed, should impel all followers of the great national pastime to make this baseball classic of 1935 bigger and better than in previous years by contributing 40 cents and attending the game on Sunday, February 3, at the Seals Stadium in San Francisco at Bryant and Sixteenth streets.

The following games will be played by the following teams at the various hours stated: Virden Campfires vs. Rough Rider Cords, 10 a. m.; Schuckens vs. Evans Auto Rentals, 12 noon; Joe Cronin's All Stars vs. Dick Bartell's All Stars following these two games.

Tickets may be purchased through this office or from any local baseball player. All the boys thank you for your co-operation and support.

GUEST SPEAKERS GIVE TALKS ON VARIED THEMES

Seventeenth District Parent Teachers Listen In On Inspiring Program

Percy E. Towne, executive secretary of the American Automobile Association, delivered an inspiring address on "Hazards of the Highway," during the afternoon session of Seventeen District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, held last Friday afternoon in the auditorium of Burlingame High School. Towne also summarized the principal regulations contained in the California vehicle act, and recommended the use of common sense precautions for pedestrians and offered a number of general suggestions for safe driving.

Pansy Jewett Abbott, San Mateo County superintendent of schools, spoke on "Legislation Pertaining to Schools," and was enthustically received. Mrs. Alfred Ullo, district chairman of legislation, rendered a splendid report. R. E. Simcock, secretary, Y. M. C. A., gave a short talk on "Recreation," and told of some of the principles of physical education and recreation, stressing the fact that activity should be provided for all, not for a superior few. Simcock highly recommended games that could be played in later years, putting special emphasis on fair play, friendship and sportsmanship, instead of victory. Mrs. Fred Stumbles, Student Welfare chairman, told of close cooperation with the school in aiding the child, of dental clinics and medical aid. Motion Picture Chairman Mrs. Floyd C. Beach called attention to the recommendations of the state board in regard to motion pictures. Mrs. H. L. Hoover, citizenship chairman, explained the meaning of Pledge of Allegiance in her interesting report. Urging closer co-operation between the school, home and church, Mrs. G. W. Givens, Juvenile Protection, stated that the fundamental law of childhood is discipline and trouble with juveniles is caused by home environment,, lack of spiritual training and lack of discipline in schools.

The program for the day was under the direction of Mrs. A. M. Jeppeson, fourth vice president and director of the department of public welfare of Seventeenth District, who made several short, pungent talks on safety as she introduced her chairmen. Mrs. J. J. Garland, president, conducted the business session, Community singing was led by Mrs. J. E. Morrish, district music director and president of Sequoia High School unit. The high lights of the president's meeting held in Burlingame city hall on January 14 were brought out by Mrs. Don Dwight Davis in her reports. Publicity chairmen of the district were commended for issuing splendid newsettes, that of San Mateo Junior College Mothers' Club, Mrs. M. M. Miner, president, being the latest to join the growing list.

Jack Hughmanick, Boy Scouts of America, described scouting aims and accomplishments, thanking the district for its loyal support of the movement.

Charles Considine, student Burlingame High School, sang and played his own accompaniment.

The district luncheon was arranged by Mrs. R. D. Richards and was served at the Methodist church. Reservations for Founders' Day luncheon should be mailed to Mrs. E. R. Burton, box 77, San Carlos.

General Plutarcho Elias Calles, Mexico's "iron man," is recovering at a Los Angeles hospital from an operation for a gall bladder ailment. He flew from Mexico to California for the treatment.

Preparations are being made in the state printing plant to execute the largest text-book order ever to be received there. A total of 815,000 readers and spellers will be produced early this year, according to a report by Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger.

Sacramento led the entire state in business recovery last year, her bank debits totaling $737,000,000, an increase of 130 per cent over the 1933 figure. Berkeley was second, with a bank debit advance of 42.5 per cent.

San Francisco firemen and police spent an anxious night recently, controlling the spread of thousands of gallons of gasoline which had seeped from a huge storage tank by San Francisco bay, hundreds of gallons covering the water. A spark or lighted match would have caused an explosion.

Developments have been moving at a rapid rate throughout California as a result of the Board of Equalization's decision to investigate all holders of liquor licenses to see that they are not infringing on the restrictions. San Francisco started the probe after several beer halls had assertedly been found to be contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Eighty-four battleships, 300 airplanes and the dirigible Macon left their San Pedro base to take part in five days of tactical maneuvers on the high seas. The exercises, directed by Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, are considered more or less of a rehearsal for the fleet's war games to be held in the north Pacific, May 3 to June 10.

State inspectors are conducting a sweeping investigation of alleged "dope" parties held by young people at Hanford, following discovery of five Christmas cards in the possession of Wong You, 75, against whom narcotic sales charges have been placed. A group of addicts, all under 30, were reported to have been holding "dope" parties in private homes.

Over 2000 men will be employed for four months in making the long contemplated improvements on the Los Angeles Municipal Airport. The work, which has just begun, is an SERA project for which $559,945 has been appropriated, believed to be the largest single allotment made to any airport in the nation.

After considering 90 parole applications, the Folsom Board of Prison Terms and Paroles denied 73 of the applications, granted 16 "future date" paroles and one immediate release. Convict Bert Riley, who won immediate release, will be turned over to Colorado authorities as soon as he steps out of Folsom.

While in Sacramento to press legislation which would make white canes the symbol of the blind and give the sightless the right of way at street intersections, Frank L. Look, himself blind, was struck by an automobile. Luckily he suffered only a wrenched knee. Cities and counties throughout the state have adopted ordinances giving right of way to persons carrying white canes at the suggestion of Look.

More than 4000 Californians donned their winter togs and trekked through 30 inches of snow in near-zero weather to watch the coronation of Snow Queen Mary Henderson at the fifth annual San Joaquin Winter Sports carnival at Sequoia National Park. The crowning took place under the mighty General Sherman tree, the largest and tallest living thing in the world. More than 30 prizes were presented for the various snow and ice sports events.

The apparent harmony which has marked the activities of the 51st California Legislature, so far, has been slightly disrupted as a result of two "monkey wrenches" that have been tossed into the machinery of legislation. Epic Democrats, headed by the youthful William Mosely Jones of Montebello, have started opposing Merriam-favored measures. The Bourbons have submitted a finance plan of their own which differs on several major points from the Governor's, and the Democrats are expected to fight for every item under their plan. The other disruption occurred following the ousting of three workers in the department of social welfare. Because of this action, three members of the newly formed state relief commission of nine persons immediately told Governor Merriam that they would resign.

H. A. Lafler, 45, poet, bon vivante and ex-czar of Telegraph Hill, San Francisco's "little Bohemia" of other days, was killed in an auto crash near San Jose recently. For many years the colorful Lafler was a writer and editor in the Bay region.

Four of the seven California Republicans in the lower house at Washington have become ranking minority members on committees, the Capitol has announced. The other three representatives have been assigned to various committees.

Velvet Hostess Gown Is Favorite

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

EVERY hostess owes it to herself and to her home to look her most charming when entertaining, and the way to do it is to wear velvet. This call for gowns not too formal and not too informal, which shall "add to the picture" of one's home environment, flings a challenge to designers to create dramatic effects which shall be in a class all their own. The result is that some very marvelous things are being accomplished in most picturesque fashion. For these lovely garments which gracious ladies wear in their homes, velvet has unmistakably proved a favorite medium.

Typical of the newest trends in hostess gowns are the three lovely fashions pictured. The center model, which is so sweetly simple yet so utterly sophisticated when it comes to meeting the demands of a fastidious mode, is fashioned of white transparent velvet with flowing sleeves of chiffon-lined red ombre velvet, the same dyed by hand. The godet in the side of the skirt is treated in the same way.

The cunning with which shirring is manipulated at the back of the bodice of the striking hostess gown, to the left in the group, is enough to cause one to order her dressmaker to go and do likewise when designing the next formal dress. If the lady in the picture would turn around a high cowl front would be seen, in contrast to the low-cut decollette at the back. A double silver cord girdles the waistline with heavy silver tassels finishing at the front.

A daring color scheme glorifies the sumptuous hostess gown to the right in the picture. Red velvet and gold cord is the formula for this beauteous creation. The neckline is gathered on a gold cord which is repeated at the front of the gold braid girdle.

It is good style to use contrasting velvets for the hostess gown. We have in mind such fetching combinations as dark green velvet with a bright tangerine velvet girdle, also tangerine facings for the long winglike sleeves. Black with aquamarine blue, also black fuchsia with cerise, are likable color alliances.

One of fashion's latest whims is the tailored velvet hostess gown which has a shirtwaist top. A very effective model answering this description is made shirtwaist fashion of french blue velvet, the skirt, of course, being floor length with a tendency to trail slightly. There are touches of coral at throat and at waistline.

Then there is the hostess gown with the peasant-waist top. So called since its neckline gathers up on a drawstring. The full bishop sleeves are embroidered in brilliant peasant colors.

A new feature is the velvet gown with quilted cordings, or more ornate motifs which are fantastically quilted both on the sleeves and at the neckline, also here and there about the hemline. Speaking of hemlines the new slashed effects are as popular for hostess gowns as for evening dresses.

SILVER AND WHITE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The hue and cry for white with silver is heard throughout all fashionland. This lovely evening dress is made of white and silver lame. A new way to wear orchids, as you plainly can see is to tuck them through your belt and wear them to the side.

Dress Accessories Follow Up Closely Ensemble Idea

The ensemble is now being followed more closely than ever in the line of dress accessories. Coipel, of Paris shows ensembles composed of a handbag and the little sports jacket to match in the same supple brown kid leather that are both fastened with heavy buttons in imitation tortoise shell. Many of these buttons are in square shapes.

At the same house is a handbag and gloves to match in supple leather in two shades of deep and lighter brown. Both the frame of the handbag and the glove cuffs were fastened by a clip in brown plastic material combined with dull gold metal. A model quite similar had the clips replaced by the wearer's initials.

DRESSMAKERS MAKE OUTFITS FOR BEACH

All the dressmakers are concentrating on beach outfits and ski ensembles. They have done about all they can in the regular town and country ensembles for morning, afternoon and evening. The smart set, incidentally, either is frolicking in the snow, or splashing in the Mediterranean, or getting ready to do so.

Madame Georgette Renal has made a popular beach ensemble of white linen, printed all over with sailor caps in blue and red. The red caps have blue pompons and the blue ones red ones. The blouse buttons in front in the form of a wide panel with two large pearl buttons on each side. The shorts are plain white linen and there is a jaunty looking jacket to keep the sunburn off the back and arms. Bright red wooden sandals with wide bands of blue canvas complete the outfit.

Shoe Fashion World Comes Out With Some New Ideas

New shoes take us in pleasant paths. Extreme, toeless slippers are out of favor for the nonce, and the pump returns, more high cut than of yore. A new shoe is in navy blue suede with a very high throat. It is trimmed with navy blue kid draped up the sides of the midfront. The heels are of blue kid. The same shoe is made in deep wine red and dark green. Colored shoes for town in the winter is a new and nice departure. For southern wear there is a beige antelope slipper, high and smooth in front, with a button fastening over the big cut-out at the side. It is piped in black patent leather, which, in turn, is piped with narrow silver.

For Evening

Some of the very newest evening gowns are to be seen in those well-known neutral shades of beige and gray. Both are observed in their most delicate tone and in such materials as satin, chiffon and moire.

Veiled Sequins

If sequins annoy with too much luster their glory can be dimmed with a chiffon veiling. Lelong applies this trick to an afternoon dress of dark blue crepe.

OBLIGATIONS OF HEAD OF FAMILY

Subsidizing Worthy Sons-in-Law Among Them?

The responsibility for a girl's happy marriage at the normal time rests today with her father, not her fiance, according to Good Housekeeping Magazine.

William McDermott, Chicago religious editor, discussing frankly the marriage prospects of his own daughters, in the publication, proposes a dowry to help depression-struck men to establish homes, rather than delay marriage past the age which nature dictates. He says he is willing to subsidize his sons-in-law for the first years of marriage, for the sake of his daughters' happiness.

"Why," he asks, "should I consider my obligation to my daughters completed when they have finished college, any more than when they have finished high school? I believe it is fully as good an investment—and almost, if not fully, as important—to spend two or three thousand dollars, or more, if necessary, in helping my daughters, if they need it, to marry happily during their mating time, and in assisting their husbands to complete their life-work preparation, if they have no other source of support, as it is to see them through their earlier education."

Mr. McDermott says that the hosts of non-marrying young men today depress him more than the financial crash. He believes undergraduates in college are too young to marry, but that the average graduate student is better off married, living in his own home, with a wife who is interested in his career, than in a boarding home or fraternity house.

"If either of my daughters should marry a man in training for a profession or business, I would urge her to study along with him, to act as his secretary and assistant as well as his encourager, and to aid him in every way to succeed," he continues. "She would be gleaning much of that which will occupy him for a lifetime and which interests him most. They will have a unity or compatability of education which can only enhance the completeness of their marriage and add to their companionship. If husband and wife grow up together in law, education, business, or profession, there is a common denominator of inestimable value."

Mr. McDermott believes the ideal time for marriage for a woman is between the ages of twenty-two and twenty-six. He approves of college educations for women, and believes they should be able to support themselves, and to have careers, if they choose, but not at the sacrifice of a home and children. The present tendency of society, he thinks, is to deaden the instinct for home and for children, and to cheat young people out of romance and idealism.

"The problem of marrying at the opportune time is not one for youth, struggling today against greater odds than ever to get ahead, but for the parents to solve," he concludes.

WINTER FACED BY NOME WITH RENEWED HOPE

Devastated City Is Largely Rebuilt And High Gold Price Encouraging

Nome is rebuilding rapidly after the disasterous fire of September 17, and will be in position to withstand the severe winter in fair comfort and faces the future with renewed optimism writes Sidney Norman in the Vancouver Sun.

Many small houses were moved in from surrounding camps and the arrival of ship loads of lumber, dispatched immediately after the fire from Seattle, added to the small supply already on hand and provided ample building material.

The latest news of the situation in the far north gold camp was brought to Vancouver on Thursday by passengers on the Alaska, of Alaska Steamship Company.

Among them was Donald Stewart, M. E., a graduate of Washington University, who is associated with his father, A. C. Stewart, of Seattle and Nome, and the Alaska Sunset Gold Mining Company operating a dredge on the third beach line, a few miles west of the U. S. Smelting Company's operation on the same pay zone.

Mr. Stewart, at the time the fire started, was in the Golden Gate Hotel, where it originated and was able to save his personal effects.

The fire spread very rapidly and within four hours the entire business district was laid level, with but three vaults standing—one at the Court House, another at the only bank doing business in the city and the third at a former bank building, where business was discontinued ten years ago. The Lincoln was the only hotel saved.

The present population of Nome, which is an incorporated city, is approximately 1000 whites and almost as many Esquimaux. Dreding operations in the vicinity give employment to between 500 and 600 men.

Alaska Sunset dredge was built this spring, the material having been delivered at Nome last fall. The season's clean-up has been satisfactory and it is expected that the longer run possible next season will show even better results.

United States Smelting Company, which took over the Hammond Dreding Company operations, has enjoyed a good season of approximately 175 days since May.

Clean-up from a recent two weeks run is reported to have yielded $92,000 from dredge duty of about 7500 cubic yards daily. This works out at around 65 cents a yard, comparing with an average of 8½ cents a yard in the Sacramento Valley fields in California.

Costs are, however, far higher than in the south, as the gravel has to be thawed ahead of the work. Cold water is used in the summer months and is introduced in pipes sunk to bedrock on staggered plan worked out by the company's engineers and entailing thawing operations sometimes two and three years ahead of dredge handling.

Made Early Fortunes

The beach line from which U. S. Smelting Company is now winning such satisfactory returns was worked in the early days by drifting and was largely responsible for the first big fortunes accredited to Lindenberg of the Scandinavian American Bank of Seattle and J. C. Brown.

Mr. Stewart came out by air to Fairbanks, thence by train to Seward and by steamship from that point. He will return to the North early next year.

The present price of gold, with strong possibility of further advance, has stimulated interest throughout the district and the city's inhabitants are now looking forward to some of the best seasons in recent history.

At the height of the boom over 30 years ago Nome claimed a population of 30,000 and still boasted 10,000 in the first decade of the century. Since then it has dwindled consistently to present proportions, but there now seems to be promise of gradual increase.

ILL WIND BLOWS GOOD

A cough dislodged a nail which had stuck for two years in the throat of Percy Hayden, 9, of Petersburg, Va., after several operations had been unsuccessful.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What is a burlesque?

Answer: A story, poem or theatrical performance which makes a laughing matter of some serious work, by words, making the thing described on the original. Noble thoughts, for instance, are expressed in the most commonplace language; things insignificant are talked of in glowing words, making the thing rescribed seem absurd and ridiculous. And that is why such compositions were given the name burlesque, the Italian word for raillery, mockery or jesting. The "Mikado" and "Pinafore" are examples of burlesque plays.

Question: What are salmon trout?

Answer: There is a name applied to an American species of trout known as the steelhead. It is found along the Pacific coast, making runs into fresh water streams from the southern part of California to Alaska, and is especially abundant in the lower courses of the Columbia River. The steelhead averages from five to eight pounds in weight. They are being propagated by the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

Question: What was the Burlingame treaty?

Answer: A treaty between the United States and China in the year 1868. The negotiation of this treaty was the most important achievement of the American statesman and diplomat, Anson Burlingame. The Chinese, in this treaty, for the first time accepted the principles of international law and really opened its doors to the world.

Question: Who were the Know-Nothings?

Answer: A political party in the United States, secret in character, which flourished from 1852 to 1860. It protested against immigration, and for that reason was also called the "American" Party; it opposed the Church of Rome, and this principle alienated voters who otherwise might have joined with it. Meetings were in secret, and the measures promoted were never discussed openly; when one not a member asked any question regarding its policies the reply was, "I don't know." Constant repetition of this phrase gave the party its cognomen. In 1854 the Know-Nothings carried Massachusetts and Delaware, polled over 125,000 votes in New York, and gained a considerable following in the South. By 1860 the members of this party merged principally with the Democrats and Republicans on war issues.

Question: What were called "Big Berthas" and why?

Answer: The name was given to big guns used by the German during the World War. They were named in honor of the daughter of Friedrich Alfred Krupp, owner of great steel factories, which were the mainstay of the German demand for artilleries.

Question: What is lac?

Answer: A resinous gum from which shellac, a high grade of sealing wax, and lac dye are obtained. The resin is the secretion of several scale insects. In the countries where lac is produced the natives hang the larvae of the insects upon the twigs of fig, and certain other trees. Spreading to all the tender branches, the insects pierce the bark to get their food, and through certain pores they give out a sticky substance by which they are fastened to the trees. Beneath the bodies imprisoned in this lac the eggs of the mature insects hatch into countless other larvae. Several generations thus succeed each other in one season, sometimes depositing lac half an inch thick. After six months the encrusted branches are cut off, and the lac is prepared for commerce. This substance when prepared for shipment is valuable for varnish because light penetrates it and shows the grain of the wood beneath. This industry centers in the Phillipines, Argentina and Japan.

Weak Condenser

A weak condenser will cause irregular ignition and also tend to increase burning or pitting of the contact points, according to the emergency road service of the California State Automobile Association.

IGNITION CONTACTS

Ignition contact points are often the cause of motor failure, according to the emergency road service of the California State Automobile Association. The points should be flat and always make good contact with each other, indicated by a frosty appearance over their entire surface.

Rough points can be temporialy smoothed with a fine file. For satisfactory service the points should be removed occasionally and their platinum surfaces polished on a fine oil stone, but this should be done only by an experienced mechanic.

PAN-AMERICAN HIGHWAY NOW NEAR COMPLETE

The Tamazunchale-Jacala sector of the Pan-American Highway south of Monterrey, Mexico, is closed, according to a report received by the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club form W. H. Furlong United States Representative for National Highway Direction, Republic of Mexico.

This mountainous section has been under construction for several months, with travel permitted to pass through on certain days of each week. With the present intensive blasting, it has been necessary to close the road until work has progressed further.

Climatic conditions are ideal now for travel in Mexico. It is suggested that motorists drive south from Laredo, Texas, as far south as Vailes—467 miles from the border. Here the automobile may be left in storage and a train taken to Mexico City. Or the car may be shipped by rail, also. Rates are governed by the weight of the car, ranging from $20 to $50 for the average one. Monterrey is probably a better point for leaving the car or shipping it, as it is a larger city and has more hotels and better garage ficilities.

It is predicted that the Pan-American Highway will be officially opened to through travel and in good condition by March 1, 1935. By that time there will undoubtedly be more and better supply points and accommodations along this fascinating highway.

Part Needs Oiling

Universal joints should be lubricated at frequent intervals, about every 500 or 1000 miles, according to the emergency road service of the California State Automobile Association.

They should not be packed full, however, but filled from one-third to one-half. If too full the grease will be thrown out more readily due to the action of centrifugal force.

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, January 27, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Truth". Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled" (Matthew 5: 17, 18).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The so-called laws of mortal belief are destroyed by the understanding that Soul is immortal, and that mortal mind cannot legislate the times, periods, and types of disease, with which mortals die. God is the lawmaker, but He is not the author of barbarous codes." (p. 381).

WHEN PERMISSIBLE TO PASS ON HIGHWAY

A mistaken assumption of many motorists is that overtaking drivers do not have the right to pass when the car ahead is traveling up to the car ahead is traveling up to to the permissible speed limit, states the National Automobile Club.

The law on the subject speaks pointedly otherwise. An overtaking car is given the right to pass whenever its driver wishes so long as the road is clear. To permit passing under the circumstances, it further states that the first driver shall pull aside at the sound of an overtaking car's horn, with the further proviso, in many cases, that the overtaken vehicle shall not increase its sped.

Morally, the overtaken driver may have a right to be indignant, but legally he has none.

NEWS LETTER TO SALESMAN

Rushing business in the recent holidays stepped up retail sales from 25 per cent to 40 per cent higher than in 1933. According to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., this was the high water mark since 1929.

The number of commercial failures in the United States struck a new low in the week ended December 20. The total reported to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., was 219, compared with 231 in the preceding week and 250 for the week of December 21, 1933.

Newsppaper advertising in November, 1934, was 7.2 percent higher than for the same month in 1933 according to Editor and Publisher. Advertising lineage bought by retail stores in seventy-seven leading cities in November amounted to 93,798,000 lines, reports Advertising Age. This is an increase of 11.4 per cent. The larger advertising budgets for 1935 set aside by many corporations indicates confidence in the increasing purchasing power.

The Bell System reports a business increase to the tune of 300,000 telephone installations during 1934. This ih the first year's increase since 1930 and is contrasted with declines of 630,000 phones in 1933; 1,579,000 in 1932 and 268,000 in 1931.

Bank clearings for the five-day week ended December 26, in the twenty-two cities reported upon by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., showed an increase of 13.8 per cent over the corresponding five day week of 1933. New York City clearings were 6.9 per cent above last year's, while those of the other 21 cities ranged 26.8 per cent higher than for the same period in 1933.

The Edison Electric Institute reports that electric power production in the week before Christmas was 7.9 per cent higher than for the corresponding week of 1933.

Steel production rose to thirty-nine per cent capacity last week, according to the weekly survey of the Magazine Steel. This increase brought the year's average to 37 per cent. The production of steel ingots and castings for 1934, was 11.7 per cent abvoe 1933.

In the first eleven months of 1934, the volume of new insurance written was 9.4 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of the previous year, reports the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Lapses, surrenders and applications for policy loans decreased, which is indicative of general business improvement.

The gross returns to farmers in 1934, is estimated at $7,300,000,000 which is 40 per cent more than in 1932, according to Louis H. Bean, economic adviser in the Agriculture Adjustment Administration. He states, "The farm situation at the end of 1934, is in much better shape from the standpoint of current returns than it has been at almost any time in the last three years.

The Department of Commerce reports that our foreign trade for the first eleven months of 1934, showed a substantial gain over the corresponding period of 1933. Exports totaled $1,962,731,000 as against $1,482,355,000 through November 1933, and imports aggregate $1,522,807,000 compared with $1,316,041,000 through November, 1933.

A survey of American business by the Cambridge Associates shows marked improvement in many of the components used. The percentage change in 1934 over 1933 in significant barometers is as follows: Increase of 14.8 per cent in employment; 29.4 per cent in wages; 48.5 per cent in building; 15.9 per cent in industrial activity; 20.3 per cent in steel operations; 7.1 per cent electric output; 30.2 per cent automobile production; 5.1 per cent carloadings; duction; 5.1 per cent carloardings; residential building. A decrease of 43.1 per cent was shown in the number of business failures.

Total deposits in licensed banks now aggregate $20,821,392,000 an increase of $888,732,000 since June and of $3,766,184,000 since October, 1933. According to J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency, there are now 5466 licensed national banks, an increase of 44 since last June. Nine ofthe fifty-three banks which suspended operations in 1934, were covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and only one was affiliated with the Federal Reserve System.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

A Job For Every Willing Worker: Donald R. Richberg, Executive Director of the NEC, in a recent speech before the Washington Board of Trade expressed his belief in the rights of property and of private enterprise, but with the qualification that those granted such rights must realize that they bear the moral responsibility of giving every willing worker a chance to support himself and his dependents.

Optical Workers Get Back Pay: With the assistance of the NRA Litigation Division, 300 employees of a large optical firm will receive wage restitutions amounting to $12,000. The firm, which controls several business names, among them International Optical Stores, Corporation, Dr. Ritholz Optical Company and Dr. Ritholz & Sons, Inc., also consented to issuance of a permanent injunction restraining it from further violations of the labor and trade practice provisions of the retail trade, dental laboratory and optical manufacturing codes. One of the practices restrained is the use of misleading advertising—so-called "bait" advertising and such phrases as "$15 values at $2.98."

Minimum Lumber Prices Suspended: The NIRB has issued an order suspending former Administrative Orders establishing minimum prices in the Lumber and Timber Products Industries. The Board found, after a public hearing, that it was not practicable either to enforce prices in major divisions of the industry which are unwilling to operate under fixed prices , or to suspend prices in the cases of major divisions of the industry while other divisions are held to the maintenance of prices. The Board emphasized the fact that the order does not establish precedent for action on any other code.

NIRB Establishes New Procedure: Beginning January 9, 1935, the NIRB will itself conduct a series of open hearings at which evidence will be collected on the operation of major code provisions and the advisability of amendment of continuation. Price control and price fixing will be the subject of the first hearing. Announcement of the topics and dates of other hearings will be made in the near future.

Nine Compliance Regions For NRA:....For purposes of attaining a greater degree of code compliance the entire country will be divided into nine regions, each of which will have a regional director; an administrative assistant and a regional compliance council composed of a representative for employers, one for labor, an impartial chairman, an attorney assigned by the NRA Litigation Division, and whatever special personnel is necessary. The offices will have jurisdiction over the areas covered by the states in which they are located and nearby states. They will be in the following cities: Boston, New York, Washington, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Dallas and San Francisco.

Six Regional Compliance Directors Named: Sol. A. Rosenblatt, Compliance and enforcement Director, has announced the appointment of directors for six of the nine regions into which the country has been divided for purposes of attaining a greater degree of code compliance. They are: William L. Mitchell, (Atlanta), Brid. Gen. Benedict Crowell (Cleveland), Cornelius F. Rumley (Chicago), Ernest L. Tutt (Dallas), Donald Renshaw (San ,Francisco) and Merton Emerson (Boston).

Regulations Safeguard Code Budgets: Regulations covering code budgets have been issued by NRA. They require the separation of code funds from all others, adequate and accurate accounting records available for inspection by NRA, periodic reports to the NRA, audits by independent accountants at the end of each budget, period, and submission of financial reports to contributors to code funds within sixty days after the budget closing date.

Workers Paid During Interruptions: The NRA has issued an order that workers shall be paid for work interruptions beyond their control. Such interruptions include breakdowns, delays, and time spent waiting for materials from the loading or unloading of railroad cars and other vehicles of transportation.

A Temporary Authority For Cotton Garment Industry: The NRA has approved the selection of five members of the Cotton Garment Industry to act as an advisory committee to co-operate with the General NRA Code Authority in its capacity as temporary authority for the Cotton Garment Industry. The five include four members of the suspended code authority of the Industry, and one who had been removed under the order which separated all members who were officers of the International Association of Garment Manufacturers from the code authority.

Seven Firms Lose Blue Eagle Rights: The NIRB has withdrawn the right to use of NRA insigna from the following firms: The Western Leather Clothing Company, St. Louis, Mo.; Rider Manufacturing Company, Williamsport, Pa.; Supreme Instruments Corporation, Greenwod, Miss.; The Reedsburg Free Press, Reedsburg, Wis.; Abel Ice Company, Macon, Ga.; Missouri Pants Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, Mo.; and Parker & Marks, doing business as Marks Sales Company, Richmond, Va.

Two Firms Regain Blue Eagles: Two firms which had lost their Blue Eagle rights have satisfied the NRA that they are now complying and will continue to comply with their codes. As a result they have regained the right to use NRA insignia. They are the St. Helens Pulp and Paper Company, St. Helens, Oregon, and Woddward & Brown, Elizabethtown, Ky., members of the motor vehicle retailing trade.

Butchers Get a Code: President Roosevelt has approved a code for the retail meat trade. This code, binding on establishments in which more than fifty per cent of retail meat sales are made, went into effect New Year's Day. A separate schedule, amounting to a supplementary code, applies to Kosher meat retailers. It is now "unfair trade practice" for a butcher to misrepresent meat or sell meats which have been kept in storage below freezing longer than thirty days except as "cold storage" products.

Rose Schneiderman Appointed to Commission: Miss Rose Schneiderman will represent labor on the Special Commission under the code for the artificial flower and feather industry. The Special Commission was created pursuant to an order issued under the code on August 14, 1934. Its duties are to undertake a study of conditions within the industry with respect to wages and hours, particularly regarding code provisions dealing with employment of learners.

Tight Hood Latches

Keeping the hood latch tight not only prevents noise but spares the latch itself, states L. G. Evans, Director of Roadside Service of the National Automobile Club. If it is free to vibrate, the scews which attach it to the frame of the car are likely to crystallize and break.

SAFETY METHODS IN PARKING ON GRADE

When parking on a grade, always turn the front wheels so that one of them rests against the curbstone, cautions the public safety department of the National Automobile Club. In addition, set the emergency hand brake, and the shifting lever may also be left in gear for further safety.

By taking these precautions, the possibility of the car starting unattended is reduced to a minimum. This method also offsets the dangerous results of a runaway car if the brakes become loosened because of some mechanical defect or if children mischievously release the emergency brake.

NATURAL GAS HEAT

IT HAS BEEN COLD enough already this winter, but the real need for adequate whole house warmth is here now, this month, and in the month just ahead. Whether your home will be one of comfort and health will depend upon the type of heating equipment it has and the kind of fuel it uses. For California climate the best fuel is gas.

With gas heating, you order the degree and the amount of heating your house requires by handy valve control or automatic thermostat. Hour after hour of lively heat—clean heat that circulates in full-bodied warmth into every cold or draughty corner of a room.

Prepare your house now with modern gas heating equipment to cope with winter's severest weather. Single unit gas heating equipment can be purchased for as little as $16 to $56. Conversion burners for furnaces or stoves cost from $12 to $40. Central furnace systems from $90 to $180 and up. Convenient purchase terms can be made that apply on both cost of equipment and the installation.

PLEASANT THOUGHTS

All men are glad to have pleasant memories, but not all are providing the material for such memories. If you would look back by and by to something that you will be glad you said or did, now is the time to do or say something which will give you food for gladness.—Henry Clay Trumbull.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit — even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, which he names "Penelope," in a final effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. Ten-year-old Penelope is given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin. At a baseball game a ball strikes Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin retires from business, wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for his daughter when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" was in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is won over despite Nance's hard-boiled exterior.

"A normal weight, your honor." He took the girl's hand and counted her pulse. Then he took a stethescope from his pocket, placed it against her left breast and listened. Her pulse and heart beat normally, your honor, and from her appearance of general good health we have no reason to suspect pulmonary trouble. Her skin is clear, soft and smooth; it is free from blemishes—another indication of good health. Her hair is fine and lustrous; not dry and lifeless, as is the case of a person of pronounced psychopathic tendencies. Her eyes are full, lambent, kindly, intelligent. Her brow is full, broad and of medium height, her head a little larger than that of the average woman, and she is broad between the ears—because, as she has brains, nature ordained that she should have room for them. She is neatly dressed and decidedly not a slattern. She gives no indication of dissipation—drugs or alcohol. But mark her nose. It is a grand wreck. A nose like that would cause a continuous mental conflict in any woman.

"But for this lamentable facial defect, this girl would be beautiful. Perhaps she remembers, or used to remember, herself as beautiful or attractive; then this accident occurred and lo, she became an ugly duckling. She brooded upon her misfortune; she wept over it, doubtless she thought it very hard that God should afflict her so. Doubtless the knowledge that she was an object of curiosity or derision to strangers and repugnance to her friends made of her a gloomy, depressed recluse. Who knows what wild, desperate and desolate thoughts she became a prey to? Mental conflicts undoubtedly were at work—an impulse to run away, to hide herself, countered by the natural impulse to make the best of the situation, to be brave, to pretend she was not different.

"In the case of a girl whose mind and nerves had been thus harassed over a long period, a new sorrow, constituting a definite mental shock, even if of no great magnitude, might nevertheless be sufficient to bring about the condition of dissociation of personality which I have described."

"Anything else, Doctor Burt?"

"I have given a concise and general outline of the case as it presents itself to me, your honor. This defendant should have treatment. It is quite possible to cure her and I am morally certain I could do so. Her saddle nose can be repaired. I have a very good friend, a specialist in plastic surgery, and I know he would be willing to help, without charge, to make a swan of this ugly duckling."

"And you think you would make her over into a responsible moral citizen?"

"I think so, your honor."

"How would she support herself during the period of treatment? By theft—or worse?" The judge glanced at Nance Belden. "How do you support yourself, young woman?"

"I carry my own check-book," the girl replied.

"You have a private income?"

"Sure, old thing."

"What is its source?"

"I don't know. On the first of every month somebody puts some money in the bank for me and I check against it."

"And that's all you know about it, eh?"

"Sometimes I can remember, but I can't now. It's the time I can't remember that raises h—l with me, Judge. I don't know what name to sign to my checks then or I forget I have a checking account. Then I get hard up and steal."

"How truly remarkable, Miss Belden! Have you ever issued any checks that bounced back on you?"

"Say, are you trying to kid me, Whiskers?"

The judge ignored this obvious contempt of court. "I suppose you have had many sweethearts, Miss Belden?"

Nance Belden's scornful laughter filled the courtroom. "Oh, Judge, you're precious. What sort of a man would pick me for a sweetheart, I ask you? Be yourself, Judge. Now you tell one."

"Why not?" the judge pursued remorselessly.

"Well, maybe because nobody ever asked me," the girl assured him with simple directness. "I don't mind admitting I'd like to have a nice sweetie if I could find one, but what the h—l's the use trying? I'd only have him a little while; then he'd get ashamed of me. What's the use bothering myself? I know a blind fellow that's mad about me. I've often thought of taking the poor gazabo on for my steady sweetie, but he makes me so sad I know it wouldn't last. He has that funny staring look, and when he walks with his arms held straight out, it just breaks my heart."

"Where does he live?"

"God knows—now. I was taking care of him when I got pinched. You see, Judge, I took him to a doctor to see if something couldn't be done for his poor eyes, and the doctor said he could be cured, but it would be expensive. He'd have to go east to a very noted specialist, who would charge a lot for the operation. Well, I paid that doctor his bill and that left me short."

"Did the same doctor say anything to you about your nose?"

"Yes, he said he could cure that himself, and to come in when I was ready and he'd put me in a hospital and operate. Gosh, it's some baby, isn't it, Judge?"

"How did it happen?"

"I don't know."

"You don't know anything, do you?"

"Yes, I know something."

"What is it?"

"You haven't the slightest intention of agreeing with Steve. That sheep-faced mutt, Blethen, has given you an earful. You're one of these judges that believes what he wants to believe. Steve's told you I'm nutty, but Steve's wrong. I'm not. Steve's just a good fellow trying to give the little girl a hand."

"So you believe you're quite sane?"

"Of course I am. There's nothing wrong with me except a bad memory, and a beak like the American eagle."

Stephen sighed and shook his head, seeing which, Nance crossed to his side, put her arm around his neck, and laid her cheek against his. "Steve, darling, you'd be a wonderful sweetheart," she assured him, and laughed.

"If You're a Good Girl, Nance, I'll Not Put the Cuffs on You."

"Your honor," Stephen pleaded, "can't you see she's—"

"I can see she's as intelligent as you say she is, Doctor. In fact, she's more than that. She is very artfully simulating mental irresponsibility by attempting to spoil the good work of her expert witness. It is my conviction that Doctor Blethen was right when he told me she was the smartest, most adroit criminal type he had ever examined. I believe, with him, that she is incorrigible, and incorrigible criminals should be set apart from society.

He turned to his clerk. "I believe the sentence was two years in San Quentin penitentiary. Verify it and prepare the commitment."

"Good G—d," Stephen Burt cried sharply, "you are not going to commit this social outrage, your honor?"

The judge eyed him sourly. "Doctor Burt, you will apologize to the court for that language or I shall fine you fifty dollars for contempt of court."

Stephen Burt drew a fifty-dollar bill from his pocketbook and tossed it on the table.

"Court is adjourned," his honor mumbled, much embarrassed.

The policeman who had brought Nance Belden into Superior court approached her. "If you're a good girl, Nance, I'll not put the cuffs on you."

"You didn't put them on me coming here; so why should you think it necessary now?"

"You're an important prisoner now, Nance. The judge just gave you two years in San Quentin, didn't he?"

Nance Belden turned. "Did he, Steve?"

The doctor nodded miserably.

"And I'll not see you any more, Steve?"

"Of course you shall Nance. I'll come to see you from time to time. I haven't finished with you—not by a long shot, my dear. Tyrrell, you're still retained on this case."

The lawyer waved his hand hopelessly. "We're licked," he stated, without emotion. "This is one hand no lawyer can beat, and I wouldn't try." And Tyrrell shook hands with Stephen and Nance Belden, put on his hat and strode out.

"Come, girlie," the policeman suggested.

"Well," the girl declared, with an effort at nonchalance, "this is a tough break for old lady Belden, isn't it?" She smiled upon him patronizingly. "You're a good scout, Steve. Thanks a lot for all you've done and tried to do. You meant well, but at that I think the old scientific hooey has got you a bit cuckoo, too. I stood for it a while because I thought his nibs might fall for it, but when I saw you weren't going to get to first base with the big boob I called it no contest." She thrust out her little hand. "Well good-by, Steve. I suppose I'm keeping you from other nuts."

She came close to him and looked up at him wistfully; so he stooped and kissed her. At once tears suffused her eyes. "You don't mind what I look like, do you, Doctor Burt? You're kind enough not to feel sorry for me."

Amazingly she had changed—slipped out of one personality into the other as one slips out of a coat. "Will you do something for me, Doctor?" she continued, and he saw that she was all nerves now. "I'm looking for a girl named Penelope. I can't remember her last name, but I do wish you'd try to find her for me, even with so little to go on."

"Where does she live, Nance?"

"Out there, somewhere."

"You've been reading a poem, I think, Nance—a poem that runs:

And you, my sweet Penelope, out there
somewhere you wait for me,
With buds of roses in your hair and kisses on your mouth.

She trembled with eagerness. "Why, you know her, Doctor. That's the Penelope I'm looking for."

"Oh, if that's the Penelope, why of course I'll find her for you. Good-by, my poor dear girl, and remember to look for me at the gate the day you're released from San Quentin."

A deputy sheriff took Nance Belden to San Quentin and was decent enough to refrain from handcuffing her en route. The girl was not particularly sad. Indeed she appeared to enjoy the brief trip across the bay in the ferry boat, and the half hour's journey by train to Greenbrae, where the prison bus meets arriving deputy sheriffs and their charges. Even the first glimpse of the penitentiary did not disturb her, for the road that enters the grounds is flanked by the homes of the officials and guards, and well-kept lawns and flower gardens give no hint of the gloom that lies in waiting beyond the main gate.

She was taken first to the warden's office, from here she was passed on to another officer where she was measured by the Bertillon system, thumbprinted and photographed, after which a guard escorted her over to the women's wing of the prison.

The building in which female convicts are housed at San Quentin would readily be mistaken for a hospital were it not for the bars at the windows and the high metal mesh fence that surrounds the grounds. Two young women were hoeing in the flower beds; along the cement walks other women strolled, singly or in pairs, chatting and enjoying the sunshine and fresh salt breeze that blew in from the bay, less than fifty yards distant. About two hundred yards off the beach, some men in skiffs were fishing for striped bass, and with the exception of a guard in a kiosk at the entrance to the grounds, one would have to search in vain for the slightest hint of official surveillance.

"So this is San Quentin," Nance remarked gaily to her escort. "Not so bad, my boy, not so bad."

The guard did not answer. He knew that the realization of restriction rather than high walls constitutes the horror of prison life. He took her into a small lobby, where a pleasant-faced, middle-aged matron greeted the girl cordially.

"Come with me, Nance," she said, and led the girl into her office, where she took charge of Nance's suitcase, opened it and searched it thoroughly.

"You have nice clothes and toilet articles," she commented. "Have you more clothes at home? These will scarcely last two years."

"Yes. May I send for them?" asked Nance eagerly.

"Of course you may. The women inmates of San Quentin are not required to wear a prison uniform, although we furnish one if necessary."

"Hurrah for our side," Nance replied cheerfully.

"You read and write, of course, Nance?"

"Do I look like a dumb-bell?"

"Well," — patiently — "here are the prison rules. Read them, and then obey them strictly. Failure to obey them will lead to disciplinary measures, and repeated infractions may lead to solitary confinement. If you prove to be a good girl, you'll receive credit for good behavior in the shape of a reduction in the length of your sentence. Good conduct will also render you eligible for parole after you have served half of your sentence; if you should get into trouble, tell me about it first. I try to give my girls a square deal, but very few of them try to give me one. If you should think you're not being treated fairly, I'll always be glad to discuss your grievances with you. You will meet some terrible women here and you will also meet some who, had they been spared the unfortunate circumstances which conducted to bring them here, would be ladies. Conviction doesn't mean that a person is devoid of all human attributes. You will keep your person and your cell clean. You will not be locked in your cell unless you misbehave. Your cell—it is really a nice little room—will be sacred to you alone, and you will have the freedom of the building and grounds. I will assign you to a cell and show you up to it. Then you can change your clothes and come down and join the women in the recreation room yonder."

Shells Uncover Treasure

Gunners bombarding the eastern front during the World war had no idea that they were bringing to light archeological treasures. In the shell holes in Jugoslavia, members of an expedition sent out by Harvard university have found treasures which go back to the Bronze age. Nearly two thousand sites have been marked out as a result of the studies of this expedition. In them, future digging will take place. Incidentally, by making a 3,500-mile survey of the territory, the scientists have uncovered Roman roads and fortifications which before were thought only to exist in local legends.—Pearson's Weekly.

STATE MUNICIPALITIES GET MORE GAS TAX

fornia are, as a rule, in splendid condition. Many cities have necessary paving work to be done, but lack funds to do it now. If done piecemeal such work is seldom entirely satisfactory. This extra quarter of a cent would enable many cities to smooth up the bumps that have been noticeable to all through travelers for a long time.—Santa Rosa Press Democrat.

Cities Entitled To More

It is to be hoped that the Legislature at its forthcoming session will heed the petitions to increase the cities' share of the gasoline tax revenues. The portions of pavement that are most heavily used are those which run through the cities. All users of state highways use likewise city payments, but not every driver of a car within a city makes use of the outside roadways. City residents contribute adequately to the state highway fund by their taxes on gasoline. Drivers from outside points do not contribute their just share to the fund for maintenance of municipal streets. At present one-quarter of a cent of the gasoline tax fund is apportioned to cities. The California State Automobile Association is asking that the amount be doubled.—Palo Alto Times.

More Gas Money For Cities

The Legislature will be asked to increase the amount of gasoline tax money the cities are now receiving—and that request should be given favorable consideration.

At present one-quarter of a cent of the tax money is allocated for cities. It is not enough.

A blind man riding in California knows without being told when he is passing through a town. The instant the automobile leaves the county road and traverses the city streets, bumps and ruts appear. Not in every town, to be sure, but in far too many of them.

City residents who do most of their driving within city limits profit little from the gasoline tax expenditures unless they ride in the country.

The California Automobile Association is supporting a proposal to increase the quarter-cent appropriacreasetion to half a cent. That is not too much, particularly since the plan provides that this half-cent shall be taken from the state's share and not diverted from other highway construction.

Also, it must be used for highway construction in the cities and under the supervision of the State Department of Public Works.

Can you think of any good argument against that proposal? Neither can we.—San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

Cause Of Gear Slip

The motorist who has gone thoroughly over the many units of the transmission in an effort to determine what causes the car to slip out of gear may find himself still baffled for an explanation, remarks the director of roadside service of the National Automobile Club.

In such a case, the solution of his problem may be found in checking the alignment between the transmission and the flywheel. If it is not correct, it is bound to create this trouble.

Brake Squeak Source

A brake drum that has worn out of round is the cause of many a squeaking brake, according to L. Y. Evans, Director of Roadside Service of the National Automobile Club. The motorist loking for a high rivet or a worn lining as the cause of his trouble should bear this point in mind.

CALIFORNIA HAS PAYROLL STEPUP

California, Nevada,, New Mexico and Arizona.

The improvement in the Far Western business last year is amply demonstrated by a gain of 13.4 per cent in bank debits, 10.6 per cent in retail sales, a 2.7 per cent gain in fourth quarter building permits, which checked the downward trend shown earlier in the year, and factors of the agricultural picture such as December's 21 per cent gain over 1933 in the index of prices paid to California farmers for their products.

With the exception of September, every month in 1934 showed a gain in employment over the coresponding month of 1933. December's gain was 5.9 per cent in the number of persons employed and 13.9 per cent in the amount of payrolls of industry in California.

ACTIVITIES FOR DALY CITY UNIT ARE OUTLINED

Month To Month Calendar For Member Observance Through Entire Year

(Catherine Foreman, Pub. Chmn.)

Daly City Unit No. 410 is going to be very active this coming year and the following is a month by month list of their program activities calendar.

January is the month in which our legislative program is most active.

February is our Americanism and National Defense month.

March is our Community Service month.

April is our Child Welfare month and a very active program with our unit.

May is the most important month, as it has been set aside to carry on our Poppy Sale. Our poppy program is very important, as it is through this means we are able to raise funds for our rehabilitation and child welfare work.

June is our Fidac month, as understanding friendship between nations is the strongest bond for peace we declare to our communities.

July is the last month in our year before the convention and a most active one, as each unit is very busy making their final yearly reports.

August, our convention month, is a busy one, preparing for our department convention just ahead of our national convention.

September is Music month. The new Auxiliary year is coming; put the inspirational power of music to work by organizing the singing of the unit for the busy month ahead.

October is Unit Activities month. Installing new officers, organizing new committee and planning for the new year are the special endeavors for our unit during October.

November is our Membership month, and also, lest we forget, Armistice Day.

December, the last month but by no means least, is our Rehabilitation month, the month in which we pay special tribute to the boys in our hospitals by bringing them cheer in the way of gifts, etc.

Our whist party at the dairy was most successful, and our chairman, Norma Andersen, and the entire membership wish to express their appreciation to all our friends who helped to make it successful.

Our regular meetings for February will be on February 6 and 20.

Don't forget the mid-month social on February 9. Lots of fun for all who attend.

DALY CITY POST CONTESTANT IS LEADING FIELD

(L. M. Hill, Publicity Chairman)

Daly City Post No. 410 is proud to announce that candidate Warren Miller is leading the field in the race for page in the Third Annual Veterans Fete now running in the Chronicle.

This celebation of Washington's birthday is becoming greater each year, and has attracted the attention of the entire nation. The fete this year promises to be one of the outstanding patriotic demonstrations of the United States.

To have one of the children of Daly City receive the highest vote of six elected pages is an achievement of which we may all be proud. Now that Warren is in the lead, help us to keep him there. Clip the coupons which appear daily in the San Francisco Chronicle and telephone either Cleo Miller, Delaware 7158, or L. M. Hill, Randolph 3349. Tell your friends to save their coupons, too, and wruite in the name of Warren Miller for page before they send them in. Tickets to the fete may be purchased from any legionnaire.

The San Mateo County Council of the American Legion will meet in Burlingame Legion hall, Friday, February 1, at 8 p. m. sharp.

At the meeting of the United Veterans Council of San Mateo County held in San Mateo Legion club house, Friday, January 18, Dr. J. N. Blood of Redwood City Post No. 105, American Legion, was elected president for 1935.

JUBILEE FOR DALY CITY BOY SCOUTS

A special meeting of the Scout Committee of Daly City was called on Tuesday evening, January 22, by President Bodien.

The purpose of the meeting was explained by Commissioner Le Roy Johnson. The San Francisco council is going to give the local scouts and their parents and friends a treat on the evening of February 12 in the High School auditorium. The following San Francisco delegation were present and gave an outline of what had been done up to date: J. Thomas, M. Fadden, assistant scout master; Conrad B. Reisinger, commissioner; Robert Allen, scout master troop No. 89; Denholm Brownlee, scout master troop No. 110.

Plans are in the formative stage at this time, but there will be a parade of the visiting scouts, escorted by the local scouts, from the city hall to the high school. We also expect to have the Daly City Band take part in the entertainment.

Judging from what the committee from San Francisco disclosed, it will be a gala event for the people of Daly City and the committee hopes that the citizens will turn out and see what is going on with the Boy Scout movement of this town.
